

Edward Maibach, Ph.D.
Director
Center for Climate Change Communication
George Mason University

Edward Maibach, a Distinguished University Professor and Director of the George Mason University Center for Climate Change Communication, is a public health communication scientist who focuses on climate change and related challenges. A Member of the National Academy of Medicine, a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a holder of the Stephen Schneider Award for Outstanding Climate Science Communication, in 2021 Thompson Reuters identified Dr. Maibach as one of the world's 10 most influential scientists working on climate change. Ed previously served as Associate Director of the National Cancer Institute and Worldwide Director of Social Marketing at Porter Novelli, and he is a Board Member of the Global Climate and Health Alliance.